St Nicholas Hospice at Home Appeal WEEKLY NEWS

■ TRUE STARS . staff at the St Nicholas Hospice shop in Haverhill have been kept busy, helping to raise funds for the Weekly News Hospice at Home Appeal. Janice Bridge and Maureen Edmonds sold their home-made Easter items on a street-side stall outside the shop in the High Street at the weekend, adding £80 to the total, which now stands at £4,700. The appeal also received a cheque for £1,000 from the Clare Priory Craft Fair. See full story and read more about coming fundraising events Page 2.

HAVERHILL town councillors have backed planned changes to flight paths which will cut air traffic over the town and force planes to higher altitudes.

But protests are being lodged on behalf of some South Cambridgeshire villages which are likely to face increased noise disturbance from overhead planes if the changes go ahead.

Members of Haverhill Town Council were told by clerk Gordon Mussett that the changes are part of a European review of air space which will see former military air space being made available to commercial aircraft.

Proposed changes to routes for Stansted and Luton will mean that some planes which currently cross over the edge of Haverhill will now fly across the Sudbury and Stowmarket areas instead.

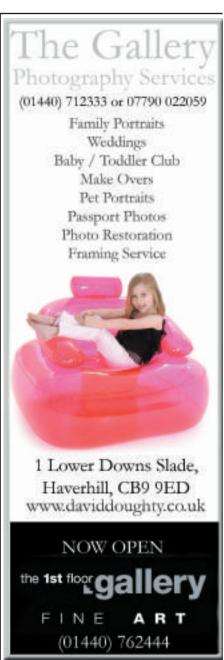

Mr Mussett said: "Basically it is good news for Haverhill. The planes that we see now at around 2,000 feet will be at 3,000 feet and those we see at 3,000 feet would be at 4,000 feet or above.

"This was very well received by the council. Some villages like Stradishall may well see more planes, but generally the higher altitudes should reduce noise levels."

Liberal Democrats on South Cambridgeshire District Council have criticised the controversial new plans to change the flight paths and stacking areas for Luton and Stansted airports.

They believe these changes are bad news for some of the most attractive and tranquil parts of Cambridgeshire.

Craft fair's success adds to our appeal

CASH is continuing to roll in to boost the Weekly News St Nicholas Hospice at Home Appeal, with the total now well on the way to £5,000.

Plenty of generous readers have dipped into their own pockets and others are planning events to help reach our target of £40,000. The money will pay for hospice services for Haverhill patients in their own homes, instead of them having to travel to Bury St Edmunds.

The appeal total stands at £4,600 this week, boosted by a major donation, which was handed over to St Nicholas fundraiser Ian Norris by Clare Priory.

The money came from the Clare Priory Craft Fair, held last July. Every year the priory makes donations to a number of charities thanks to money raised at the fair. This year they decided to donate £1,000 to St Nicholas Hospice, and were pleased to make it part of the Hospice at Home

Mr Norris said: "This is a wonderful sum to receive, and we were delighted that Clare Priory have allowed us to put the money towards the appeal.

"Everywhere I go at the moment people keep telling me that the Weekly News appeal is a wonderful idea. The public are very keen to see services offered closer to home and to help those most in need receive the care they require in their own home."

■ Another cheque towards the appeal for £122 was waiting for Ian at Haverhill Arts Centre, from Haverhill Town Council staff, who collected the money over Christmas, instead of sending out Christmas cards.

■ Staff at the hospice shop in High Street, Haverhill, have also helped boost the total.

They set up a stall outside the shop on Saturday to sell Easter eggs, toys and decorations. They raised more than £80 selling items created by volunteers Jan Bridge and Maureen Edmonds.

Jan said: "We were very pleased we raised more than we did last year."

- Several runners taking part in the Sudbury Fun Run on Good Friday will be raising cash for the appeal and Arnold Sinfonia are donating the proceeds of their concert at Haverhill Arts Centre on Sunday, April 6 to the appeal. They hope to raise around
- Haverhill Town Mayor Les Ager is also backing the appeal and will donate the proceeds from his Charity Dance at Haverhill Arts Centre on Saturday, May 10.

The dance will be held from 8pm to 11.45pm with dancing to the Galaxy Big Band, led by Roger Chinery. Tickets are £12.50, including a buffet, and are available from Haverhill Arts Centre box office on (01440) 714140.

Beware of card scam

SUFFOLK Police are urging hoteliers and the public to be extra vigilant following reports of a credit card

Police this week received two reports in Suffolk in which a male, claiming to be from the police, has contacted a hotel or guesthouse. He has asked the hotel for names and contact numbers of customers who are due to stay or have recently stayed at the premises, stating he needed to get in touch with them because there had been a credit card scam.

The customers have been contacted by the male, who has then claimed to be from the hotel. They are told that there has been a mistake and their credit cards details had been shredded and the man has requested their credit card details over the phone.

Officers are urging members of the public and all staff in hotels and guest houses countywide to be aware of the scam. If you think you have been a victim, contact Suffolk Police on (01473)

Police link car break-ins

POLICE are linking three incidents in Haverhill where items were stolen from cars. At Jay Close, between 1.30am and 11am on Sunday, thieves broke into a red VW Golf and stole a CD/DVD player and wallet.

At Chalkstone Way, between 10pm on Saturday and 9.30am on Sunday, thieves broke into a silver Transit van by smashing a window and stole a satellite navigation system. At Millfields Way, between 6.45pm on Saturday and 9am on Sunday, the boot lock on a silver VW Sharan was damaged in a garage area.

Anyone with information about the incidents can call Haverhill South Safer Neighbourhood Team on (01284) 774100, or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

Counties unite to fight airport growth

Of greatest concern are the stacks over an area stretching from Linton to south of Newmarket and from Gamlingay to the A14 south of Huntingdon.

John Batchelor, county and district councillor for Linton, said: "These proposals are a real threat to the quality of life for the people of the 11 villages I represent and are unacceptable and unnecessary.

"If queuing on approaches to the airports is needed then there is no good reason why these aircraft should not be held over the sea rather than over our homes."

■ Six local authorities have joined forces to oppose plans for a second runway at the UK's thirdbusiest airport, Stansted.

Essex, Hertfordshire and Suffolk county councils, and Braintree, East Hertfordshire and Uttlesford district council said they would "vigorously campaign" against the expansion plans announced by airport owner BAA last week which they fear would put an "unbearable strain" on local services.

The campaigners said they were forming a cross-party group called Councils Opposing a 2nd Runway (CO₂) and called on the Government to "totally rethink" its aviation strategy.

Essex County Council leader Lord Hanningfield, said: "CO2 will be a powerful force that will campaign on behalf of local residents to oppose this unwanted and unnecessary BAA has asked local planners at Uttlesford District Council for permission to build the new runway and a second terminal.

If approved, the £2.5 billion development would open in 2015 and serve 68 million passengers a year by around 2030.

Matthew Knowles, spokesman for the Society of British Aerospace Companies, said the expansion was to meet public demand and the industry was working on making flying much cleaner and quieter.

Shop leads town fight against bags business in Clare showed their support for the St Edmundsbury Zero Waste Week by dropping plastic bags in favour of environmentally friendly alternatives. During Zero Waste Week, which ends on Monday, businesses have only given out compostable paper bags or cotton bags to customers. The local traders have signed up to go "plastic bag free" as part of the council's challenge to everyone in the borough to reduce the amount of waste they throw into their black bins to nothing. During the week, it is hoped people will only use products which can be recycled, composted or reused, avoiding items which can only go to landfill.

Clir Peter Stevens, cabinet member with responsibility for the environment at St Edmundsbury Borough Council, said: "Local traders are spearheading a campaign to show people that using cotton or compostable bags is a simple change which can make a big difference."

Awards hand out to helpers

AWARDS are on offer for young Suffolk recruits taking part in a new volunteering programme being launched later

The millennium volunteers scheme, launched 10 years ago, is to be replaced by a new look national youth volunteering programme, called V Involved.

Young Suffolk has been awarded a new three-year contract under this scheme to form a Suffolk Vteam to promote volunteering in the county.

More emphasis will be placed on skills development, particularly work skills.

Before the start of this new contract in April, Young Suffolk is hosting an awards event which will recognise the achievements and contributions that current young volunteers have made.

In all, 50 young people have been nominated for the Youth Volunteer of the Year Awards.

Patricia O'Brien, portfolio holder for Children, Schools and Young People's Services, said: "The launch of this new contract will help young people get even more out of volunteering and will provide great opportunities in the years

"I would also like to take this opportunity to congratulate all those who have been nominated for a youth volunteer award. They are a testament to the good that volunteering can do."

A FREE chance to swap traditional light bulbs for energy saving alternatives is on offer to residents of St Edmundsbury.

All residents will need to do is take one or two traditional bulbs into one of St Edmundsbury's offices between Wednesday, March 26, and Friday, March 20. Pulbs can be expressed at the Council 28. Bulbs can be swapped at the Council Offices, Lower Downs Slade, Haverhill.

Residents will be given the choice of either 40 or 100 watt energy efficient replacements.

What's in a name? Anger at pub sign

POLICE were called after complaints that the name of a live band advertised on a sign outside a pub was offensive.

Officers visited the Rose and Crown in Haverhill on Saturday to act on the complaint by a member of the public about an offensive word - which is the band's name – which had been written on an A-board.

Shaun Wright, one of the says the name also means a Texas dish as well.

"We've never had problems before and we've had the band here five or six times in the two years I've been here.'

He said police told him he could not use the word on the advertising board outside the pub because it was not on his property.

He said: "We changed the sign to say: 'Live music tonight – A band we can't name."

The gig went ahead as planned and the band's performance was well received.

A Suffolk police spokes-woman said: "We received a call at 5.52pm on Saturday. A member of the public complained about an offensive sign outside.'

She said officers spoke with the pub management and the offending sign was altered.

Mr Wright said he expected to book the band to appear at his pub again - though care would ■ SPRING IS IN THE AIR . . . for the two lovestruck peacocks.

Mystery peacocks in search of mates

FACTORY workers are hoping to reunite two lovesick male peacocks with the female of the species.

Staff at Ardex UK in Haverhill have become quite used to seeing the two male birds over the past few months in their factory grounds where they have taken up residence.

But, now that spring is in the air, they fear the birds are becoming amorous and are in need of some female company.

Julie Cole, who works in despatch at Ardex, believes five peacocks may have escaped from a farm at Helions Bumpstead or Steeple Bumpstead last year. It seems the owners managed to pick up the three females, but left the males behind. She said: "They are magnificent creatures, absolutely beautiful and they seem quite happy up here, but I am worried that they may get hurt. The road is quite busy outside and they seem to like sitting on vehicles and are scratching them. I have heard threats of them being shot and also foxes capturing them.

"They came into our despatch office this week. They have been getting quite amorous with each other and as they are two males we think they need to get back to where the females are.

Anyone with information about the peacocks should contact the Weekly News on (01440) 703891 or email Jo Deeks at editorial@haverillweeklynews.

Appeal to find stolen DJ gear

BY Jo Deeks

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

A DJ is offering a £250 reward for information leading to the recovery of his disco equipment, which was stolen from outside a pub.

Nathan Watts, 27, says it would cost him around £15,000 to replace the equipment he has collected over the past 10 years – if he had the money.

His white Transit van was parked outside the Black Horse pub in Camps Road, Haverhill, for 15 to 20 minutes on Saturday afternoon while equipment was unloaded for a disco being held there. When the driver returned it had gone. The empty van was found soon afterwards at the bottom of the Clements estate.

Mr Watts, of Stoke by Clare, runs a successful ice cream van during the summer and set up the NW Entertainments disco business to operate during the winter months.

He is offering the cash for information which leads to the recovery of his equipment, which included eight large Carlsbro speakers, four silver scanners in flight cases, another four flight cases containing lights and around 2,000 CDs.

Mr Watts said: "It was a real blow to me and the equipment is not insured while it is in the van. The worse thing is losing the CDs which I have built up over the past 10 years.

"It was definitely unloaded in

The bill for the hundreds of missing items runs into thousands of pounds, prompting calls for the 'short-changed" Cambridgeshire force to take heed of its own crime prevention tips.

The list of missing items valued at £10,000 includes cycles worth £4,000, £1,000 of police clothing and a £55 bottle of aftershave. The underwear which was stolen has not been valued. A £46 knife was also reported lost.

The goods all disappeared from police premises including stations, station car parks and patrol cars.

Officers have lost £4,000 of equipment including 42 torches worth £1,000, batons costing a total of £1,300, 45 sets of handcuffs valued at £675, 10 utility belts at £10 each and 14 leg restraints worth £100.

Driving licences, ID cards, wallets, bags, mobile phones, credit cards, jewellery, books, tools, a power drill and car registration plates have also been stolen.

Police have been told by a pressure group to take heed of its own crime prevention advice, especially after Chief Constable Julie Spence said her force had been "short-changed" by the Government.

Mrs Spence called for an additional £2 million to pay for 100 more officers to help tackle a popul-

"Not only do we hear regularly that the public should be taking better care of their belongings, but this is surely more important when every penny of the police budget is urgently needed to fight crime. Each of these losses means less money spent on catching criminals.

"For a cash-strapped force like Cambridgeshire it is more important to take care of resources.

A police spokesman said: "Items of equipment can be damaged or misplaced during operational work. Items are recorded as lost when a replacement is provided. This process is monitored.'

A police information officer said not all of the items stolen were police property, but were taken from police premises.

CAMBRIDGESHIRE could be robbed of nearly £22 million to pay for the London Olympics.

Liberal Democrats have done an analysis of the full cost of the Government's raid on the National Lottery fund to pay for the Games.

It shows that community and sporting projects in Cambridge alone could lose £9,296,012 while the county generally could be left short by almost £22 million.

Neighbouring constituencies in Suffolk, Essex, Bedfordshire and Hertfordshire could miss out on more than Don Foster, the Lib Dem Culture and Sport spokesman, said the Government's own projections show £2 billion will be taken from lottery funds in the run up to the Olympic Games.

He said at current levels of lottery spending, every constituency in the country stands to lose out on hundreds of thousands of pounds. The party had taken the amount given to each constituency in the country as a percentage of the total National Lottery grants and then broken down the £2 billion earmarked out of mainstream lottery funding between each area.

This shows that Cambridge, which has received 0.46 per cent of the total so far, would miss out on £9,296,012.

Cambridgeshire North-East (0.05 per cent) would lose £1,026,419; Cambridgeshire North-West (0.08 per cent) £1,512,210; Cambridgeshire South (0.25 per cent) £4,983,510; Huntingdon (0.04 per cent) £894,417; and Peterborough BY Bill Jacobs (0.11 per cent) £2,267,139.

That amounts to a total raid on the county of £21,816,009.

Mr Foster said: "The whole country wants to see a successful Olympics but it should not be at any cost. These figures raise serious concerns about the impact the budget overspend is going to have on good causes in every region.

"One of the strengths of the London 2012 Olympic bid was its commitment to bring benefits to the whole country. We now need a renewed effort to ensure that actually happens."

Former Tory Shadow Culture and Sport Minister Malcolm Moss, MP for Cambridgeshire North East, said: "We have been warning for some time that the way the Government is siphoning off lottery cash from important local projects to pay for the Olympics is damaging.

"These latest figures are further evidence of the harmful effect on community, culture and sporting projects across the country that this is having.'

Shadow Culture Secretary, Jeremy Hunt said: "These figures highlight the importance of returning the lottery to the four good causes, so in future the Government cannot raid the lottery to cover up their own financial incomp-

■ GREAT DESIGN . . . Philip Robinson, from Taylor's Foundry, holding a finished aluminium trophy set for the 2008 Chamber of Commerce CB9 Business Awards.

Taylor's Foundry is proud to make local award trophies

■ AWARD CEREMONY . . . Nigel Brookes and Robert Conner at the Gala Ball.

HAVERHILL'S big business awards got off to a red hot start this week when the unique trophies awarded to the winners were cast at a local foundry – as local firms begin vying to carry them off.

The striking 12 cast aluminium trophies awarded to the winners of each category in the Chamber of Commerce CB9 Haverhill Business awards, organised in association with the Haverhill Weekly News, will be handed out at a glittering Gala Ball to be held at Chilford Hall, Linton, on Saturday May 17.

Taylor's Foundry in Hollands Road is one of Haverhill's most longestablished companies and Chairman Gerry Taylor is proud to be associated with the new upsurge in the town's economy and Chamber's awards. A logo for Haverhill Chamber of Commerce was designed by Castle Manor Business and Enterprise College pupil Robert Connor when the Chamber reformed in 2004. His design was used for the cast aluminium trophies which were presented to the winners at the inaugural business awards ball in May trophies, which will he handed out to the winners of the 12 categories at this year's glittering gala ball to be held at Chilford Hall, Linton on Saturday May 17. Companies are encouraged to enter themselves or nominate others for the awards before the closing date of Monday March 31. Gerry Taylor said the trophies, which weigh about 1.5 kilos, are cast in two parts which are later joined together, are cast at a temperature of around 750 degrees centigrade, with the liquid aluminium poured into a sand mould, using runners and risers to ensure that there are no air bubbles or spaces. Once carefully removed from the moulds, they are hand-finished and sand-blasted, then powder coated by Eric Patterson, also in Haverhill.

Recycled aluminium ingots are used to make the trophies and all left over parts are recycled, so that there is no wastage. Gerry said the trophies were tricky to produce because of the big difference in dimensions from the main section to the outer webbing.

Gerry said: "Chamber Chairman Paul Donno knows the work we do here and asked us to produce the first ones, which we were happy to do, and we looked forward to doing some for the next awards. So much business has gone abroad that we've had to use our skills for lots of one-off pieces.

"I am just one of those who defends Haverhill from people who like to knock it and I think it is fantastic that there are enthusiastic people around to make things like the awards happen."

Council defends its officers' 'modest' trips around world

BY Rachel Extance

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

GLOBE-TROTTING council officers clocked up around 70,000 miles on trips abroad as far afield as America and the United Arab Emirates last year.

A Freedom of Information (FOI) request by our sister paper, the Cambridge Even*ing News*, has revealed staff at Cambridgeshire County Council travelled all over the world on 32 visits in 2007.

Excursions included a trip to New York to recruit social workers, a visit for an adoption case in Connecticut, a conference in Greece, and looking at engineering firm Atkins' global design centre in Dubai.

Staff also went to the Swedish city of Malmo six

Two-thirds of the visits were made by members of the council's Smartlife project, an international scheme promoting modern construction methods, who went to meetings in Spain, Germany, Denmark, France, ■ CLOCKING UP MILES . . . council officials travelled far and wide on business.

Italy, Norway, Sweden, Belgium and Portugal.

All except three of the visits were externally funded.

Cambridgeshire County Council paid 48 per cent of the £2,014 cost of sending four staff to Ieper, Belgium, for a conference, the same proportion of a trip to Eindhoven in Holland which cost £302, and £700 costs for fuel, parking and living expenses were incurred during the New York visit.

The authority defended the number of trips, saying they had pulled £6 million into Cambridgeshire through Smartlife and the Ieper visit secured €1 million - a fifth of the European funding available for improving community inclusion through IT.

Officers said the visit to New York resulted in four social workers being employed and it cost less to go to America to seek candidates than to place an advert in the British press.

Flights and accommodation for the visit were paid for by the recruitment Gordon Jeyes, acting chief executive, said: "Considering we have a budget of £570 million for a region which includes a global city, I think the amount of travel is quite modest.

"Of the £21,000 spent in the last year, only 21 per cent of that was funded by tax payers.

The council said all close European trips were made by trāin, Eurostar or Eurotunnel and low-cost airlines were used wherever possible.

Liz Stevenson, international manager at Smartlife, said: "The good thing about the visits we were able to make to see Swedish buildings sites is their environmental construction methods are tougher than in the UK and we know those standards will be coming in through building regulat-

Cllr David Jenkins, leader of the opposition Liberal Democrat group, said the travel details were "surprising" but did not give cause

'Third of debt clients thought of suicide'

BY Jo Deeks

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

CHARITY helping people with debt problems has revealed shocking figures which show more than a third of its clients have either tried to take their own lives or contemplated suicide before seeking help.

In a survey from Christians Against Poverty (CAP), which has a centre in Haverhill, more than 30 per cent of its clients admitted having suicidal thoughts. A further five per cent had actually attempted to commit suicide before turning to the charity for help.

CAP also revealed that 78 per cent of all clients confessed to living in fear as a result of debt, with the threat of bailiffs, house repossession and evictions just some of the negative consequences of a life spent struggling to make repayments.

The local CAP centre has been open for two and a half years and helps clients become debt free within five years, using sustainable and practical solutions and teaching good money management skills.

Henry Wilson, centre manager, said: "Many in the local community are in a desperate situation, living in fear, entertaining suicidal thoughts and not knowing where to turn.

"The good news is that we're here to help anyone who feels trapped by debt in the Haverhill area. We cannot explain the relief we see on clients' faces when they realise that their problems are not too big to overcome and we aim to offer hope to those in desperation.

We're aware that so many more in the local community still live under the shadow of debt and I would urge anyone in need to contact me if they are at all worried about their financial situation.

"Our advice is completely free and we work with anyone, whether they're Christian or not, so please call.

CAP recently launched a free money management course, CAP Money, across the UK to enable people to get a better grip on their finances.

Average debt per household currently stands at £8,985, taking into account unsecured loans. but not mortgages

Officers roll out for cycle safety course

POLICE officers from Safer Neighbourhood Teams went back to the classroom and onto the roads to get cycle savvy so they can pass their knowledge on to local youngsters.

A group of around 20 officers, including some from Haverhill, were trained to teach cycle safety. The officers gained both written and practical experience from Suffolk County Council's senior road safety officer, lain Watson. Safer cycling courses have already been piloted in other areas of Suffolk by police education partnership officers and they have proved so popular that police officers, special constables and PCSOs across the county are to receive training to be able to hold courses countywide. Once the officers have completed the training, they will be able to run courses in their local areas.

The courses will be aimed at children aged between six and 13, and will encourage them to cycle more safely. The courses also give Safer Neighbourhood Team members the opportunity to meet and get to know the younger members of the communities they serve.

'Virtual' offices on way to town

BY Jo Deeks

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

LOCAL businesses turned out at the latest Haverhill Chamber of Commerce meeting to hear how enterprising ideas are being encouraged in the town.

John Riley, chief executive of MENTA, (Mid Anglian Enterprise Agency), told the meeting that the group hoped to establish a second "incubator" unit in Haverhill to help people make their business dreams a reality. MENTA had applied for an East of England Development Agency (EEDA) grant to develop the project. If successful, the units would be used to help disadvantaged groups kick-start their business plans.

Matthew Darroch-Thompson, senior business advisor with MENTA, outlined the areas of support the group offers businesses, including free advice, training, networking opportunities and access to premises in Haverhill and Bury St Edmunds.

The agency plans to have "virtual" office services available in Haverhill in the next couple of months. In return for a fee, businesses would be able to have a business address, a post handling service and access to meeting rooms.

Speaking after the meeting, Sarah Howard, chamber secretary, said: "There is so much happening in Haverhill. It is good to know that MENTA is around to offer help and support for people who are considering starting up in business or for existing businesses wishing to grow."

The meeting also received an update on the Young Chamber from Castle Manor Business and Enterprise College students Catharine Darkins and Amy Philips-Cowell. An executive committee was due to be elected soon and the chamber has already been in talks with the My Juice smoothie bar with a view to setting up a mini My Juice franchise at the school.

Sharing passion of Easter story

EASTER will be marked by a group of local churches with an ambitious open air play on Christ's Pieces in Cambridge.

The Cambridge Passion has been written for the occasion by a Cambridge church minister. It will feature a cast of 50 and will be performed on a full stage with a PA system

"By putting on a free quality play for the people of Cambridge we want to give people an hour of great entertainment and also share some of the hope that we receive from the Easter story," says Tony Green, the play's producer.

The play is written from the perspectives of the Roman governor's wife and the Roman captain in charge of Jesus after he was arrested, as they are pulled into the story of Jesus' death and resurrection."

The performance follows on from similar large open air productions of Biblical stories in Liverpool and Manchester. The play will be on Christ's Pieces at noon on Easter Saturday.

Mortgage experts are on hand to offer help

IF YOU are desperately trying to get onto the housing ladder, or are worried about being able to manage your repayments when your current mortgage deal comes to an end, help is at hand, writes Nigel Lambert-Jones of the Thinc Group Limited in Haverhill.

With the dreaded 'R' word – recession – doing the rounds, it is understandable that people are concerned about what the future holds.

Restrictions on borrowing and rising personal loan rates are of concern, and are a sign that many financial companies are reigning in how freely and cheaply they lend money. This is just another indication of how families may feel the effects of the financial squeeze in the months ahead, unless they plan correctly

The 'credit crunch' is something that we have all read about and cannot afford to ignore.

It was originally down to the mortgage crisis in the USA where people were lent money to buy properties but could not afford to keep up their repayments. These debts were packaged and sold across the world, which is why Britain is now feeling the effect.

Interest rates have been affected, and although bank base rates have started to fall, some lenders have either not passed on the full cuts or in some cases have maintained or raised effective rates to improve their profit margins. They are also much more cautious about who they will lend money to - the days of 'easy money' are over for the foreseeable future.

While the 'belt tightening' will stop some people getting into trouble, it does not help those who already have debts and mortgages to manage, so it is more important than ever to organise your finances so that you can cope with any extra cost. A mortgage is often the biggest financial commitment that many of us will make.

That is why it is essential to have the mortgage that suits your individual financial needs, such as a fixed or discounted rate.

In addition it is essential to review the cost of your life cover, which is an area where costs have actually fallen significantly over recent years. A free, no obligation phone-in consultation service being offered by Thinc Group, and members of the experienced team will be available to take your calls on 08450 502466 between 9am and 7pm on Tuesday, March 25 and Wednesday, March 26. You can also email you questions to nigel.lambertjones@thinc.com and you will receive a reply by email or telephone.

NEW HOMES OFFER MORE

If you've not considered a brand new home for a while you may be surprised by what you can now expect from one.

Many new homes now come with the little luxury extras you used to have to fork out extra money for within the standard price. Things like integrated dishwashers, tiled kitchen floors, ceiling downlighters and stainless steel ovens always used to add hundreds of pounds to the purchase price, but at many new developments, including Barnaby Way, Haverhill, these things can come as standard.

You'll also often find builders willing to do deals. If you can move fast you may be able to get a cash discount, if you have a house to sell you may find a builder will help you with this also. Sometimes builders have a deadline to sell a particular plot and you'll find it on at a particularly appealing price. And all this comes on top of the most obvious benefit of a new home - the fact that it's new - the baths have never been sat in, the ovens never used, the carpets are spotless and the decor immaculate

HAVERHILL WEEKLY NEWS VERDICT

Yank tank gets German edge

WHEN the Chrysler 300C was introduced to the UK in 2005 its maker admitted it was taking a gamble. Here was an American car aiming for a share of the European quality car market.

Since launch, steady sales and a growing following has meant the car has hung on by its toes and has even begun to climb the rock face. This latest model sees a shift of emphasis though. The 300C is moving away from its transatlantic roots, it would seem, and embracing the European image of a quality car.

Most of the changes are cosmetic, apart from the revisions to the engine range. The interior is darker, the leatherwork has gained in quality and there are touches of stage lighting introduced around the central drinks holders and the door pockets.

Outside, the changes are mainly to the rear while the front end retains its distinct similarity to a Bentley. A pronounced lip has been added to the boot lid and the rear light clusters have been redesigned and repositioned. But does the introduction of some German gloom and quality make it a true rival for Mercedes, Audi and BMW?

Somehow I think not. Its ultimate trump card – sheer value for money. None of its rivals incorporate selflevelling suspension as part of the standard deal. You also get xenon headlamps, leather-trimmed seating, and rear parking assist in the basic price of £27,495. Nearest to this is Saab at £30,630, Volvo S80 at £34,453 and then Audi A6 at £35,967.

In a sense the 300C is a wolf in sheeps' clothing. Mercedes, until recently a partner of Chrysler, still has links with the American manufacturer. The 3.0-litre V6 CRD engine fitted to the 300C range is based on Merc technology and, as I found when driving, it wafts the 300C along with consummate ease.

Sitting in the Chrysler you get all the essentials – silence, solidity, performance and very relaxed motorway cruising. What you don't get is the kudos and halo effect of an Audi, Merc or BMW badge. The handling is slightly fidgety at low speeds on the back roads, but once out at sea it handles very nicely.

■ THE CHRYSLER 300C . . . a large and comfortable transatlantic design.

Its huge size and shallow windows make the extremities of the car difficult to see but, on the plus side, there is considerable space for the passengers to stretch out legs and relax the shoulders.

The revisions now make the engine choice simple. You either get the 3.0-litre diesel or you can go for the 6.1 V8 Hemi petrol engine which produces a huge 425bhp.

BASICALLY...

A large and comfortable transatlantic design which has now comfortable discovered that a discreet approach pays over brashness when it comes to selling in Europe. I don't think German quality makers are going to lose sleep over it, but buyers looking for sheer value will continue to boost sales. And the fact that it is easily confused with a Bentley won't do any harm either.

4x4's could be a superb buy if you are on a budget

THE LAND ROVER FREELANDER AT LAUNCH. . . excellent on/off road compromise with a prestigous badge.

BUYER advice website UsedCar Expert.com says that, while big off-road vehicles are punished financially in and around London, the pictures of motorists trapped in storms and floods underlined the value of a used 4x4 outside of the capital.

'Of course, if all the negative press about 4x4s continues, then prices will soften," says website spokesman Matt Tumbridge.

'So don't rush, but keep an eye on the prices of these three popular offroaders," he adds.

■ Mitsubishi Shogun (1991-2001)

"Shoguns have a high quality build, rugged offroad ability, and are reliable," says Tumbridge.
"A flood of imports has increased choice and brought down prices a

Most economical version is the 2.5TD, with fuel consumption at around 25–27mpg, and best used buy is a 2.8TD long-wheelbase with GLS trim.

UsedCarExpert.com lists 11 pre-buy checks, and prices a 2000 2.5 TD with 80,000 miles at between £2,680 and £3,250.

■ Land Rover Freelander (1997-2003) - "A good on and offroad compromise, these are better than some lightweight 4x4s, and the Land Rover badge keeps values firm. Early cars need to be checked thoroughly for faults though," warns Tumbridge.

Most economical model is the 2.0 Td4, returning an average 37.2mpg, and best used buy is the Station Wagon GS secondgeneration 1.8.

UsedCarExpert.com has 12 faults listed, and prices a year 2001 2.0 Td4, with 74,000 miles on the clock, at around £4,600 to £5,575.

■ Honda CR-V (1997-present)

"An excellent estate car with 4x4 ability and looks, it won't break down ever," states Tumbridge. "Any pre-2002 model is now the value buy, but they're not always that cheap, especially when buying privately."

Most economical model is the 2002-on 2.0, returning 31mpg, best used buy is the

UK is in dire need of some clear long-term road plans

THERE has been little improvement to UK roads since the Romans left 16 centuries ago, a report from the RAC Foundation has said.

Britain faced "a road to ruin" unless there was long-term transport vision, the Foundation

Indecision, poor management, the formation of transport departments that do not have a clear remit, and a lack of long-term vision has set back the development of UK roads immeasurably, the report said.

It said that it took 100 years for government to take responsibility for main roads after the turnpike system declined in the mid-19th

The Foundation warned that Britain was facing the same economic and financial problems in future years if a coherent longterm plan was not put in place.

The Foundation reported:

■ The motor vehicle was not a legally recognised mode of transport until 1896

- By 1910, a total of 140,000 cars were travelling on UK roads making driving a tax option for the Treasury
- A National Road Board was set up in 1910 and ran for nine years, putting aside taxes for road improvements
- The Ministry of Transport replaced the board in 1919
- Economic difficulties in the period after the First World War and the Second World War itself created five false starts to the Ministry's road programme
- Thirty-eight years after the Ministry was founded, the first motorway was built in 1957, a century after turnpikes had ceased to exist.

Sheila Rainger, acting director of the RAC Foundation, said: "Without the Romans, the turnpike system and the Ministry of Transport's on-off road building programme the UK's roads would be in an even worse state than they are today.

"Badly-planned, poorly-configured, piecemeal road-building programmes should be a feature of our country's past. Road-user charging could be part of the future solution, but recent debate has shown this idea to be less popular than turnpikes.

To avoid roads to ruin we need to learn from these mistakes, and develop stronger planning frameworks and more powerful delivery organisations with a clear duty to develop and manage the strategic road network.

A separate report has warned that almost one-fifth of all cars could be on the road with their drivers unaware of "potentially dangerous", and costly, damage caused by potholes.

The report, from independent mechanical breakdown insurer, Warranty Direct, says that with the average motorist suffering a mechanical failure once every three years, six million vehicles – nearly 19 percent of the cars on the road - could have pothole-related damage that may not be immediately apparent to the driver.

"An increasing number of motorists are only discovering the kind of faults directly attributable to poor roads during an annual service or MoT," says Duncan McClure Fisher, managing director of Warranty Direct. "That's an alarming state of affairs given the potential danger of failures like wheel bearings, tyres and steering racks.'

Every year, around 60 per cent of all claims processed by the firm relate to suspension and axle damage consistent with that caused by Britain's rutted and poorly-maintained roads.

The Annual Local Authority Road Maintenance report states that there is a shortfall of £1 billion to bring the country's roads up to standard. Last year, Warranty Direct set up the website www.potholes.co.uk to campaign for better road maintenance, and give drivers advice on how to claim compensation from local authorities.

One car owner from the Epping Forest area told Potholes.co.uk that, having taken his car to a garage for unrelated work, he was told that one of his rear wheels had potholeconsistent damage that made his car unroadworthy.

Without proof of where and when the damage was caused, he had to fork out £535 for a new wheel, bearing kit and holding arm without being able to claim compensation from his local council.

Warranty Direct pays for repairs to faults discovered during regular servicing and MoTs as part of its market leading mechanical breakdown insurance policy.

Successful travels for Wratting

WEST Wratting Youth U11 have enjoyed a successful time with three victories on the road.

They won 4-2 in at Thurlow in a Cambs Mini Soccer League 11A match. They took an early lead when Scotton's effort was handled and skipper

Stevenson slotted home the penalty. Thurlow attacked and the ball was cleared to the feet of Harry Wilson, who struck a thunderous shot from 30 yards into the top right-hand corner of the net to deservedly equalise.

Scotton then chipped a delightful ball over the Thurlow defence and Lambert slotted into the net to give the visitors the lead.

Wratting then grabbed a third through Scotton to take a two-goal advantage. Midway through the second half, Lambert's driven pass split the Thurlow defence for Sam Ager to control and put Wratting 4-1 ahead.

A free-kick was awarded to Thurlow that was beautifully converted by Wilson from 30 yards again.

Wratting's men of the match were Scott Ankers and Jack Payne, while Wilson and Tommy Bates took the honours for Thurlow. Wratting's next league match was a visit to near-neighbours Haverhill Rovers and they came away with a 6-0 victory. Rovers, who have shown vast improvement since the start of the season, started brightly with Sheath and Fitch settling the midfield and Bentham looking hungry to win possession. Foster ripped up the right hand side for Wratting and provided well-directed crosses for Ankers and Elliott with Lambert supporting.

But it was not until the 14th minute that the ball buried in the back of Rovers' net by Rob Foster.

Soon after, Lambert collected a through ball from Scotton to double the lead before Lambert added his second. Scotton then got on the score sheet to put Wratting up 4-0 going into half-time. In the second half, Ankers flashed a couple of efforts just wide as did Elliott. Wratting increased their advantage when Lambert finished superbly from Foster's

The following day, Wratting notched up a 9-2 victory in a friendly at Aztecs Colts. Wratting settled quickly to give well-organised performance.

They led 4-2 at half-time and went on to add five more goals without reply after the break.

Their goals came from Bush (2), Lambert (2), Stevenson (2), Foster, Bailey and Torode.

Men of the match for Wratting were Sam Ager and Andrew Gedny.

Delaware lose a nine-goal thriller

DELAWARE fell short once again, as they succumbed to their 10th defeat of the season in an extremely closely fought game at Nayland.

After going behind to an early Boxford goal, Mark Bailey's determined run saw him bundle the ball around the keeper before placing home.

Boxford added their second and third goals, before Bailey notched his second in very similar fashion to the first.

Just prior to half-time, Sean McCormack was able to equalise for the Angels, Boxford Rovers reserves 5 Delaware Feather Angels 4 finishing in the far bottom corner following the ball bouncing its way round the Boxford box.

Boxford went ahead for a burth time before fourth McCormack got his second, heading in from a corner.

Immediately from the restart, Boxford struck their fifth and winning goal. Although Bailey hit the crossbar for Delaware late on, the home side were able to hold on to secure their victory.

BOWLS ROUND-UP

Botten on-song with title double

HAVERHILL'S Liam Botten has lifted two North Essex County Federation indoor titles.

He took the men's singles crown with victory over Lea Blackham, of Sudbury, on finals weekend, held on the Haverhill Botten achieved his double by clinching the Under-25s singles, defeating another Sudbury bowler, Aaron Phillips.

Along with all the other North Essex champions, Botten now represents the county in both competitions at the national finals at Newark next month.

He will be joined at the event by club-mates Jim Feeney and Margaret Ager, who took the mixed pairs title by winning their final against Malcolm Grimwood and Monica Snook, of Sudbury.

The Haverhill club was well represented in various other finals.

Mary Burton was runner-up to Sudbury's Maureen Cotton on the ladies' singles and joined Peggy Mizon and Margaret Feeney in the triples final, where they were defeated by a Sudbury trio.

Steph Smith and Ethel Parkhurst carried Haverhill's hopes in the ladies' pairs, but finished runners-up to Margaret Wells and Olive Payne, of Turpins, Saffron Walden.

White and Harrington hit super form in tries romp

ALTHOUGH Sport Relief mile depleted numbers on both sides, Haverhill U11/12s secured an emphatic victory over their Witham counterparts on Sunday. Seven-a-side rugby suited Haverhill better with the forwards totally dominating in the scrums.

Good tackling and robbing work by Bradley Harrison and off-loading by Seb Fish saw Callum White and Joe Harrington score six tries each. Other scores were by Justin Hall (4) Luke Jenkins (2) and Ben Oakes (2). Joe Harrington rounded off the performance converting all but one of the tries.

Westley seeking Arabian heights

■ TOM WESTLEY . . . Pre-season tour.

GLOBE-TROTTING Tom Westley is again travelling the world again and his cricketing career continues to blossom.

The Weston Colville allrounder celebrated his 19th birthday last week on Essex's pre-season tour of the United Arab Emirates as his county attempt to win the Pro-ARCH Trophy.

And the Saffron Walden teenager, who captained England for the first time at the Under-19s World Cup in Malaysia earlier this month, made 66 to guide his side to a slender 10-run victory over the hosts at Sharjah.

Westley arrived at the crease following the dismissal of former Zimbabwe international Grant Flower with his team 80 for 2.

And although Ravi Bopara soon departed and Dutchman Ryan ten Doeschate mustered just 15, Westley shared a vital 92-run stand with Tim Phillips as Essex were all out for 267 from 48 overs.

Westley, who also spent time at the Paul Terry Cricket Academy, in West Australia, before Christmas, bowled two overs without reward, but ten Doeschate stole the show with 4 for 43 and helped dismiss the home nation for 257 with 24 balls remaining.

A friendly against Ireland did not go so well for the talented youngster, with only nine runs coming off the bat and 3.4 expensive overs going for 33 in a six-wicket defeat.

In the second match of the Pro-ARCH tournament, Westley made a steady 14 from 30 balls as Essex lost by 65 runs to Lancashire in a match that saw England star Andrew Flintoff continue his quest to gain full fitness by turning out for the Red Rose county.

The young all-rounder was not in the Essex side when they lost by four wickets to Somerset with eight balls remaining in the third match in the tournament, which took place in Abu Dhabi on Tuesday.

FOOTBALL

Haverhill feel hard done by

Haverhill Rovers 1 Felixstowe & Walton 2

RIDGEONS LEAGUE, PREMIER DIVISION

LIFE without Steve Taylor did not get off to the ideal start for Haverhill as they were undone by a controversial winner for Felixstowe in the second half at Hamlet Croft on Saturday.

Rovers, who were led by new caretaker player-manager Marcus Hunt and committee member Paul Goodman in the wake of Taylor's departure last week, made all the early running, but it was the visitors who went in front on the half hour. Haverhill levelled things up two minutes before half time when Adam Ben-Saud lobbed the keeper.

However, the killer blow came on 64 minutes when Paul Abbott and a Felixstowe player chased the ball down. Abbott appeared to have been fouled, but play went on, and to add insult to injury, the Haverhill defence stopped as they thought the resulting cross was handled in the area before it was fired in, only for the referee to award the goal, which proved to be the difference.

■ Hunt and Goodman must now lift their charges in time for a busy East schedule that sees Rovers with two Ridgeons League, Premier Division fixtures. On Saturday, they travel to Fenland Park to take on Wisbech Town. Rovers will be seeking a double over the Fenmen, who they defeated 3-1 at Hamlet Croft on the opening day of the season.

Easter Monday sees Rovers entertain Newmarket at Hamlet Croft. The Jockeys, who are attempting to pull away from the lower reaches of the league, were recently bolstered by the signing of veteran Haverhill defender Colin Vowden, who at one stage had been pencilled in to take over as Rovers' caretaker boss after the resignation of Taylor.
